Teaching Evaluation Report

ECON 2102-20 Intermediate Macroeconomics | Jinxin Wu

Summer 2025

Overall Evaluations

Scale: low (1) to high (5).

Competency	Average	Standard deviation
How much did you learn in this course?	4.00	1.00
How likely would you be to recommend this course to others?	3.67	2.31
Overall evaluation of the course	4.00	1.73
Overall evaluation of the instructor	4.00	1.73

Course Design, Content, and Learning

Scale: strongly disagree (1) to strongly agree (5).

Competency	Average	Standard deviation
Learning goals were clearly articulated	3.67	1.53
Learning goals were met	4.00	1.00
Course content engaged me	5.00	0.00
Course introduced new perspectives/models/literature	4.67	0.58

Assignments and Grading

Scale: almost never (1) to almost always (5).

Competency	Average	Standard deviation
Covered what was taught in class	4.67	0.58
Were graded according to the standards set by the instructor	4.00	1.00
Were returned in the timeframe communicated by the instructor	4.33	0.58
Were integral in synthesizing course learning	4.67	0.58
Were returned with meaningful and specific feedback	3.67	1.53

Average Scores: The Instructor in This Course

Scale: almost never (1) to almost always (5).

Competency	Average	Standard deviation
Was well-organized	4.67	0.58
Delivered content in a manner that motivated me to learn	4.33	1.15
Provided opportunities to receive assistance outside of class	4.00	1.00
Was open and responsive to student feedback and concerns	4.00	1.73
Encouraged me to do my best work	4.67	0.58
Respected the start and end times of class	5.00	0.00

Summer 2025 – Written Student Feedback

Comments are reproduced as written in the original evaluation report.

"It was helpful to do a bunch of the practice problems in class."

"Very nice professor, homework kind of helps"

"Professor Wu would go over practice questions in class, which was very helpful."

"The tests were not too difficult but I think they were a bit long, even if you knew the material."

"Nope, it was great."

"Material had to be covered very fast, wish we had more time to understand, not having a formula sheet for around ~20 new formulas felt impossible to learn within a week."

"Course design was great too!"

"I liked that the homework was graded on completion, but it would still be nice for it to be checked so that students can pinpoint what they specifically didn't understand and can get an explanation for why their understanding was wrong."

"It was fair and great! Though I struggled a bit in second midterm, I learned a lot from the experience."

"No issues with course environment."

"It was inclusive and welcoming."

"She was a very nice professor, I think this course was too fast for a PhD student to teach."

"Thank you Professor Wu for being such a great professor for this summer session class Intermediate Macroeconomics! I really enjoyed learning from you and I hope to see you again soon! Have a great rest of the summer and thank you again!"

"She is a great teacher and very good at clearly explaining the material. She handles and answers questions well in class. She was organized and clear about what we would be tested on. It would've been helpful to have more flexible options for office hours/extra help."

"Principles of macro didn't prepare me for this material at all. This seemed to be VERY microeconomic focused- which was upsetting because I was much more interested in macro and policy."

"I was well prepared I think!"